REPUBLICANS' RAGE. STORMY SCENES IN THE HENRICO

CONVENTION. Beverlige (White) and Jonathan (Colored) Each Claim the Nomination for

It was a stormy convention the Republians held at the county court-house yesin the court-yard; stood in groups on the

After the temporary organization was made permanent nominations were declared in order, and Giles Jackson, in a speech so long that the delegates grew impatient, presented the name of Hezekiah Jorathan (colored).

Major Burwell, a negro with very black skin, short in stature, and with a tremendous voice, nominated Robert J. Kirtley white).

Sheriff Southward nominated an our negro named Lewis Harris.

A young mulatto named Roane tried to nominate Alien Harris (colored), but he was ruled out of order, as he was not a delegate. Harris's name, however, was placed before the convention by James Ferkins (colored).

THE BALLOT.

THE BALLOT.

The seconded in this policy of the convention of C. R. Sands as one of the candidates from this district to the Senate of Virginia.

Resolved, That the delegate there elected be instructed to express no preference for any candidate for the Senate except that of C. R. Sands, and that they insist upon his nomination.

THE RALLOT.

The nominations were all seconded in lengthy speeches by numbers of delegates, but before balloting began the name of Mr. Thomas was withdrawn.

The roll-call was proceeded with. The collowing was the result;

Beveridge, II.

Lewis Harris, 14.

Jonathan, 10:2.

Kirtley, 6:2.

Delegate Vessels wanted Beveridge nominated by acclamation, but the Chair ruled the motion out of order.

The second ballot was announced by the Clerk (and Mr. Southward, who was also become the in follows:

the delegates being upon their feet cheering and velling, most of them for Beveridge, and some for Jonathan and others for Southward

Beveridge rolled up his sleeves and rushed through the crowd, claiming that an effort was being made to rob him of his sights.

In the midst of the tumult Southward asked permission to retire with his delegation for consultation. With a vell the convention refused to grant the request. Giles Jackson made his voice heard and moved the nomination of Beveridge by acclamation. This was greeted by a great shout, and was evidently carried, but the Chair declined to entertain any motion during the confusion.

A FIGHT.

A FIGHT.

About this time Joe Pearman and Abner Dickinson (both colored), the former a Beveridge and the latter a Jonathan man, got into a rough, roll, and tumble fight, several other delegates joined in the row and for ten minutes the pandemonium regned supreme. As soon as the beiligerent statesmen became tired of fighting Mr. Southward proposed another ballot and asked Mr. Beveridge to come to the Secretary's desk and record the votes for himself, as the roll-call was proceeded with. MORE CONFUSION.

Mr. Beveridge reiterated that he had been fairly nominated, but that South-ward and the Secretary were attempting to cheat him out of his rights.

This brought Mr. Garnett (the secretary) to his feet. He pronounced the statement false, and said he would have nothing more to do with the meeting if the convention

Mr. Garnett was prevailed upon to remain at his post, and another roll-call was proceeded with. Mr. Beveridge and several friends sat at the desk recording the votes tends of the clerk. Mr. Southward along with the Clerk. Mr. Southward called the names of the delegates. The called the names of the delegates. The Clerk announced the result as follows:

Beveridge, 20½; Jonathan, 23. Mr. Be-vote was 26. The stormy scenes began again, nearly every delegate speaking at the same time; some in favor of Baveridge and others for Jonathan.

STILL ANOTHER BALLOT. After Sheriff Southward's threat to clear the room of all but delegates, order was partially restored and the roll was again called. The Clerk made the result 26½ votes for Jonathan and 21½ for Beveridge. The latter's friends made his vote 27 and that of Jenathan 21 that of Jonathan 21. BOTH SIDES CLAIM IT.

The Jonathan men yelled at the top of heir voices when the Chair announced They met at 12 o'clock M, and were in session until nearly 10 o'clock last night, and then adjourned with two candidates—each claiming the nomination.

The delegates began to assemble between 10 and 11 o'clock. They occupied the seats in the courts and in groups on the courts and another than the Chair announced their man as the nominee.

Mr. Russell took the stand and characterized the meeting as the most foul and corrupt body ever assembled in a county convention. He said Mr. Beveridge had been fairly nominated and the convention was robbing him of his rights.

REVERIDGE TALKS. Mr. Beveridge mounted the Clerk's desk and said that having been fairly elected he would stay in the field until the night of election, and work not only for himself but the State ticket. He had been robbed of election, and work not only for himself but the State ticket. He had been robbed of the nomination after having received a majority vote three times, and would remember Southward for the act. He claimed that the whole foul proceeding was the work of the Sheriff. He told the convention that while Southward was chairman at the senatorial convention last year which nominated John S. Bethel he (Southward) in his deposition in the Wise-Waddill contest had admitted voting for Conway Sands. Mr. Beveridge on the present board. ber Southward for the act. He claimber Southward alled the body to get at 12 20 o' dock and in so doing rectared to his sixteen jears service as chairman of the party in Henrico.

Giles Jackson, with his shiny black face seaming with smiles, arose and nominated lev. H. Bruce Evans for temporary chairman, and he was chosen by acclaimation.

The presiding officer, a voung mulato with a very serious countenance, walked coward and took charge of the meeting, emply returning thanks for the honor. R. Everidge's men stood by him and he was chosen by acclaimation.

Beveridge's men stood by him and pledged their support in the contest.

Conventions.

The Democrats of Henrico county held district meetings yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock to elect delegates to the two conventions to be held on Thursday, October and phearly the whole of the afternoon and a disposing of the report.

The Harris-Vessel's faction claimed that an earson men had held a caucus and tup a slate, that the affair was cut fried, and, not being able to get fair an opposition meeting was held.

Anderson men wanted to have their delegation scated, and the other side of the same as their right. The distance of the same as the the deepest interest in the enterprise, not alone from the standpoint of those interested in it, but with a desire to accommodate the travelling public.

With reference to the future of the railway Mr. Baldwin could say but little, except that the capitalists whom he represents propose to have their board look thoroughly into the affairs and prospects of the concern and to ascertain whether as a business matter the line can be operated successfully. If they find it can, or that by spending more money in its better equipment it can be made to yield a moderate return, it will be equipped thoroughly and its operation continued. He could say nothing as to the prospect of the property being sold.

The knotty question, both Messrs. Pizzini and Baldwin think, is how to get motors that will stand the heavy strain of the steep grades here. The electricians insist that an arimature which will run a heavily-londed car one day should serve for many months without becoming useless or burning out; but experience here teaches that they burn out very rapidly.

The Grau Company opened their season last night at the Theatre with this opera. The piece was given in a thoroughly-enjoyable manner. The chorus sang with much spirit and the members of the cast were unusually good. Will Guiberson, a handsome, finely-formed man with a beautiful high baritone voice, rendered the part of the Brigand in an highly artistic manner. Marie Greenwood, well known here, made a charming brigandess, displaying her high, well-trained soprano to great advantage. Miss Hosmer as the Countess of Grenada and Mr. Gurvill as the Duc de Mantua were admirable additions to the cast. Harry Brown, that old Richmond favorite, and Monte Walker, one of our Richmond boys, brought out the comedy of the opera so prominently as to keep the audience in a roar.

In the thirtieth round Warren had the Englishman hugging him helplessly, but the call of time saved him. In the succeeding rounds Murphy freshened up, and for thirty-eight rounds the men continued a dulland uninteresting contest, exchanging but few blows. Murphy planned a pivotal blow to knock Warren out, but failed. From the fifty-eight to the sixty-eight round not a blow was struck. The men were in good condition, and Referee Cook left the stage, declaring that the club washed its hands of the whole affair. President Fulda stopped the speeches of the two principals and ordered whole after. President radius and ordered the stage cleared, as the referee had declared the match unsatisfactory, the men having failed to comply with their articles of agreement. The club directors will probably refuse to award the men any part of the purse.

A Beached Ship Goes to Pieces. A Beached Ship Goes to Pieces.

(By telegraph to the Dispatch.)

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., September 25.—
This morning about 8 o'clock the beached ship Geestemund, which came sahore here about two weeks ago just below the city, was broken in two with a loud crash, the three masts falling, ripping open the deeks, and allowing her cargo of 2,500 empty ollarrels to go free, strewing them along the beach-front for miles. The stern of the vessel drifted down the beach about haif a mile. The wreck was caused by the heavy rolling sea.

Compromised with Their Creditors. (By telegraph to the Dispatch.)

New York, September 25.—Lewis Brothers, dry-goods merchants of Worth street, have compromised with their creditors, paying 57½ cents on the dollar. This is 7½ cents better dividend than was expected, and all the creditors are well pleased. Lewis Brothers will resume business immediately with the hearty good-will of the trade. Not a dry-goods house in the city that was visited had anything but good wishes for the firm and hoped them every success. (By telegraph to the Dispatch.)

THE EXECUTION OF WALKER.

Some Talk of His Friends Attempting to Rescue Him.

The Petersburg Index-Appeal of yesterday says:

Simon F. Walker (colored), who is to be hanged at Chesterfield Courthouse on next Friday for a heinous crime, has given up all hopes of any further reprieve. It is rumored in the sound; that on the day of execution some of Walker's friends will make an attempt to take bim from the Sheriff, and therefore the guard is to be larceased.

The Manchester Leader of yesterday, in speaking of the execution, says:

"The father of the condemned man was at the jail Monday, and said that he would be there again Friday, and would ask to have charge of the barly it to holy it must be turned of the holy of Walker immediately after the execution. There will be a guard in the city to-day, says that the law requires the college has made preparations to obtain the body of Walker immediately after the execution. There will be a guard of about twenty-live men en duty the day of the execution and probable that the college has made preparations to obtain the long of Walker immediately after the execution. The season shortened.

The brick-making season, which has already been much shortened by the rainy weather that has prevailed during the year, was again interrupted by the rain of Monday and Tuesday, and it is likely that operations will be discontinued for a day or two on account of the wet earth. It can be safely asserted that not more than three fourths of the usual number of bricks made in this city will be manufactured this year, and it will require dry wather until the 1st of November to accomplish that. Brick manufactured in the manufacture of this by the short supply for next year, make use of every available hour that is presented in the manufacture of this more than the safely asserted that Brick manufactured this year, and it will require dry wather until the 1st of November to accomplish that. A CLOSE CORPOBATION. A well-known and consistent Republican of this city said to your correspondent today that the Republican party in Petersburg is a close corporation; that the news from headquarters is known only to a favored few, and that the body of the party receives only so much as may be party receives only so much as may be party. layored few, and that the body of the party receives only so much as may be patronizingly doled out to them by these favored ones. My informant speaks the plain truth. The public has long regarded Republican headquarters here as the closest kind of a corporation; and that those who attend upon court are, as a general thing, afraid to breathe publicity to anything that transpires there. The above Republican is not alone in his opinion.

On my return home yesterday from the West my attention was called to a card published in your issue of Sunday in which my name was suggested as a candidate for the House of Delegates. While I appreciate fully the honor that would be conferred by a nomination at the hands of the convention, yet I must decline to allow my name to be used in that connection, as my business interests would preclude my acceptance if elected.

ing to have had a majority of the late delegates.

The attendance at the Democratic ward meetings here last hight, notwithstanding the very inclement weather, was proof positive of the deep interest felt in this contest. Representative men were chosen as delegates to the two conventions to be held to-morrow night and as members of the Executive Committee. Notwithstanding all the work that has been done in the interest of the Republican party and their strenuous efforts to carry the city for General Mahone the Democrats are beastful that they will roll up a majority of some hundreds in Petersburg for McKinney and their legislative ticket.
